Reuben-GLAM Seminar:

Immortal visualisations

Friday 21st May
3-4pm, Online

Two new, uniquely designed books present compilations of biological data from thousands of individuals, and prompt provocative questions about the nature of science and humanity. Join us for a conversation with an artist, scientist, ethicist and librarian to explore these questions and discover new understandings of the relationships between art and science, and literature and labels.

A conversation with:

- Ben Denzer, artist-in-residence, Broad Institute
- Angeliki Kerasidou, Senior Fellow, Ethox, and Reuben College
- Esther Becker, Associate Professor of Neurobiology, and Reuben College

Facilitated by:

- Christopher Fletcher, Keeper of Special Collections at the Bodleian Libraries
